

TRADITIONAL

Handwashing

Contributed by Lily Lozovsky

Source: Original

Urchatz וְרַחֵץ

At this point in the Seder, we're going to pass around a bowl - your job is to wash your neighbor's hands. Unlike traditional Jewish handwashing, no blessing is recited. Wash hands without reciting the blessing. The need for hand washing before eating vegetables is no longer a ritual requirement, however, it is included here in the traditional Seder.