

Koreich

Contributed by Hannah Litman and Rachel Novick

Source:

The charoset reminds us of the mortar and of the pain of slavery. However, as we eat it we taste it's sweetness. This sweetness gives us hope that the future will bring redemption and justice to all people.

We make sandwiches out of maror and charoset, to remind us of the mortar our ancestors used to construct huge monuments for Pharaoh in Egypt.

As you we eat this sandwich, we consider the signs of hope for a more just future that can be seen in your community. And use this sandwich as sustenance for the work ahead.